Truro, NS – The Town of Truro is making its Council meetings more accessible to the public, with the announcement of Internet broadcasting.

Previously, Town Council meetings aired live on Eastlink TV at 1pm on the day of the Council meeting and were then rebroadcasted once during that month. With the new live feed on the Town website (<http://www.truro.ca/watch-council-meeting.html>), in addition to the Eastlink broadcast, residents will be able to tune in live to the meeting or watch it any time throughout the month. Video of a meeting will be available online for approximately one month, until the next Council meeting.

Town Council is very pleased to be able to offer this access to the Council meetings and look forward to reaching a wider viewing audience.
